Important Notice: Tax Responsibility for Wellness Rewards

Please be advised that any rewards, incentives, gift cards, or financial bonuses earned through the PAISBOA Health Benefit Trust's Wellness Rewards Program (administered by Wellable) by employees, spouses, or eligible domestic partners may be considered taxable income under federal, state, or local tax laws.

The PAISBOA Health Benefit Trust is the plan sponsor for its member school's employee benefits and does not have the ability to process fringe benefits via payroll for the member rewards program. Therefore, it is the sole responsibility of each participating employee and eligible spouse or partner to determine whether any rewards received through the program create a personal tax liability. The PAISBOA Health Benefit Trust does not provide tax advice, nor does it guarantee specific tax outcomes related to wellness rewards.

If you or your spouse/partner have questions regarding how participation or earned rewards may impact your tax situation, please consult with a qualified tax professional or financial advisor.
